Seven Free Traffic Generators You Can Use Right Now to Bring Thousands of Visitors to Your Site

Building traffic to you site can be a very time consuming task, but if you understand what traffic generators actually work, and how to use them, you can cut your marketing time in half.

What we want to show you are seven traffic generators you can use to quickly and easily build traffic to your site if you use them consistently.

1. Articles and Ezine Ads.

Writing articles and sending out ezine ads can be very effective provided that you send them to your target market.

The quickest easiest way to implement this marketing method is to find publishers who will accept your articles and ads. You're probably wondering though, how do you find that out?

Well, it's easy.

Go to a good ezine directory and search for publishers who accept articles and ads that fit your key words.

I recommend this one: <http://www.freezinesite.com>.

This site will allow you to do a key word search on your topic, and you can also search by ezines that just accept articles, ezines that accept free ads, and ezines that accept paid ezine ads. You can also post your newsletters and articles here for free.

2. Start Pages.

Start Pages can seem like a weak way to build traffic because of robots and other things. It's very possible your page won't really be seen.

However, I've seen two programs here that will not only drive traffic to your site, but give you an excellent way to keep track of what's hot and what's not in terms of products.

Million Dollar Traffic is nice browser window that pops up on your desktop at intervals you set. Once you see so many page views, your page is viewed somewhere else. You can also build a downline to get more views. Currently, this program is free, but I don't think it will be for long once Jerome gets enough members.

You can see it here: <http://www.milliondollartraffic.com>.

This program is also new, and very similar. The little window is much smaller though. You can turn it on and turn it off at will, and icon just sits on the desktop.

See this program here: <http://www.dont-touch-my-ads.com>.

The best start page for your browser is this one: <http://www.trafficswarm.com>

What I like best about it is that you earn credits every time you open your browser. They also offer multiple credits on links you click on. What makes this far superior to all other browser start pages though is that you get to choose what kinds of pages you look at. I've found some very quality offers here, and I've even bought products this way.

Tip: When you set up your pages to be seen by others, offer something free, like a report or newsletter, but make sure you have a method in place to capture that email address and name.

3. Lists.

Lists are a very profitable way to promote your site, and it's easy to do once you set it up right.

The best place to go to do this is here: <http://www.yahogroups.com>.

By posting your website descriptions, articles, newsletters, and lists on the right lists on Yahoo, you can get seen by thousands every month.

Let me caution you here though: Yahoo takes a very dim view of spam. If you are going to post to these lists, make sure that your offers and posts are appropriate to the list.

Tip: use the key word search to help you find the right lists. There are also lists here strictly for promotion.

4. Free Ads.

Although this method isn't as popular as it once was, you can still get traffic to your site using this method if you post in the right places.

The best place to find free ad sites is this directory: <http://www.ecki.com/links/>

This is probably the most comprehensive directory on the Internet. He also offers software to help you speed up your submissions, and it's only about $25 right now.

Ad sites are by category, as well as key word. Very well organized.

5. Search Engines.

Search engines are one of the most effective ways to get traffic to your site because customers are looking for you.

This new search engine, created by John Calder, can help you quickly get your site spidered by Google, which is better for your traffic than submitting directly.

You'll find it here:

<http://www.spiderhub.com>

BONUS:

We're throwing in a bonus site to help you build even more traffic to your site.

Safe Lists.

Many safe lists are junk. People use throw away email addresses so your offers never get seen, etc.

However, this site is different. It requires that you use a real email address. The list is highly targeted, and your offers get seen.

You'll find it here <http://www.opportunity.com>

Although you may think that free advertising is dead, you can actually use it to dramatically increase your traffic. To make your marketing campaigns successful using these methods you need to do two things: implement them correctly and do them consistently.

Then you can sit back and watch your traffic and sales grow.
